Goshen

Whose woods these are I think I know.

His house is in the village though;

He will not see me stopping here

To watch his woods fill with snow.

My little horse must think it queer

To stop without a farmhouse near

Between the woods and frozen lake

The darkest evening of the year.

He gives his harness bells a shake

To ask if there is some mistake.

The only other sound is the sweep

Of easy wind and sowny flake.

The woods are lovely, dark, and deep.

But I have promises to keep,

And miles to go before I sleep,

And miles to go before I sleep.

Class History

On that September morning of 1953, a few children, thirty-two to be exact, started school. All of us were scared to death, but we pulled through that year and six more years to follow while we were in the elementary grades.

In 1961 we entered the eighth grade--twelve in number. We were full of awe and everyone was looking forward to new challenges. We started changing classes and thought that we were really smart. But, we really had something to learn! Some of us received invitations to join the Beta Club, which is the highest honor in our high school.

In 1962 eleven students entered high school as freshmen. We got to choose our subjects and some of us had the privilege of taking part in school activities--basketball, glee club, and volleyball.

Our sophomore year started with a bang! We were all very busy trying to keep up our grades. That year we welcomed Jeannette Grow of Buena Vista to our ranks. We were glad to learn that we would not attend Millboro High School our junior and senior years.

Our junior year we were ten in number. We participated with the seniors in "Dear Diary" and worked on the yearbook. We received our class rings.

Now it is 1965, the long awaited year. We have had a good year and are still ten in number. We are working hard on the yearbook with the help of the juniors. Linda Hazelwood, a junior, represented Goshen High School as queen in the Lexington Christmas Parade.

We are all very busy trying to keep up our grades so that some of us may attend college.

We are very grateful to all who have helped us and watched over us. May we live up to your expectations and to our dreams.
